

POLITICAL METHODS

The Old Time Styles in Politics Still Prevail—Open Season for Scandal—Untruth and Mud Slinging During Political Campaigns. Any Scurry Trick Will Pass in Politics.

In these piping days of progress and reform some of the old line politicians would undoubtedly feel mighty lonesome and homesick were it not for the fact that the old time styles and methods in politics still prevail, the styles and methods which have been the wonder of the world since the palmy days of Tammany Hall and Bill Tweed not to mention many others who have grown corrupt in person and opulent in material things in the good old days of political graft and get-there. Campaign time in America, anywhere in this glorious land of the free and home of the brave over which the eagle screams, in Ohio, or any other state, Fulton or any other county, is open season for the use of such weapons as scandal, falsification and general mud slinging. Any thing to discredit the fellow you want to down, in the eyes of the "dear people," any thing to make that "dear people" believe that you are the one great minded pure minded altruistic citizen who alone should be elevated to the position of public trust and who alone can and will guard the welfare and minister to the prosperity of his fellow citizens in blissful and sanctimonious disregard of his own personal pleasure, profit and prosperity.

You can lie about your opponent with impunity and if you are not sharp enough to make your lies appear truthful you can rest assured that an indifferent American public will excuse you by saying "its just politics." If a clean man comes up for office that you want your self or that some one else is paying you well to help him get, start a scandal by all means if you can't find any questionable phases in his life record manufacture some—it doesn't matter if the lying fabric is exposed and revealed afterwards, just so you defeat your man for its all "just politics" neither does it matter if you ruin his reputation for life, its all in the game of American politics. Insinuations are often more effective than direct denunciations and are very handy when you haven't the nerve to make a direct accusation. If there has been a bank failure in the community it is quite the proper thing in American political methods to insinuate that the man you are after is responsible for the failure or at least that it is his fault that the depositors who had their money in the defunct bank do not get it back again. Of course the depositors are sore and you go after your victim whether there is any foundation for your insinuations or not—unless they have more common sense than you give them credit for. Pretend to know a good deal more than you divulge. Don't let any sort of a record that you yourself have made deter you from entering the political game, get out and keep busy slinging mud at the other fellow and folks will forget all about your own reputation. Another trick that has been often tried and seldom found wanting is to show up your intended victim to different classes in different ways for instance: to catholic people represent your victim as intensely Anti-Catholic, tell them that he persistently distributes the "Menace" while to those inclined to be nervously Anti Catholic be sure to advertise your man as working in the interests of the Catholic. Stir up class spirit and antagonism whenever and wherever possible; any thing and every thing to gain the political victory desired. These are only a few of the Old Styles in American politics. Are we proud of them? Shall we uphold those who practice them? Or should we demand honor and a square deal in politics as well as in everything else?

BASE BALL

In a Fast and Well Played Game Wauseon Defeated the Rollers Sunday at Athletic Park.

This game marked the debut of Wauseon's new catcher Diver and his playing was high class and showed that the team had grown greatly strengthened where it most needed it. Funkhouser was missing Sunday but Parker took care of the center garden in good shape. Joe Markel contributed a nice three base wallop to the past time and had a good day in the field. Wauseon is putting up a good article of ball and with the other teams playing all of the time no one can lay down on the job.

Sunday's game by innings:
1 2 3 4 5 6 7 8 9
Wauseon 0 0 2 0 0 2 0 0 4
Batteries: Spies and Diver; Renz and Hartner, Umpire Tremaine.

MRS. ALBERT SMITH.
Mrs. Albert Smith who will be well remembered by older Wauseon residents died at her home in Toledo last Monday at noon. Mrs. Smith has been in poor health for some time and her end was not unexpected. Funeral services were held Wednesday and her body taken to her girlhood home at Gouverneur, New York for interment. Mr. and Mrs. Smith were for many years residents of Wauseon, Mr. Smith being a salesman in the Eager and Green Store later going to business for himself at Bowling Green and later returning to Wauseon where Mrs. Smith took the place of mother for her nieces the Misses Gertha and Myron Norton, a place made vacant by the death of their mother Mrs. Myron Norton. From here the family removed to Toledo where they have since resided. Mrs. Smith was a most estimable lady and was loved and respected by all who knew her.

A MESSAGE FROM HARVARD.

Dr. Richard Cabot of the Harvard Medical Faculty has recently published a book entitled, "What Men Live By?" This is a significant title, worthy of our best thought, since we are all anxious to know the elements of our life. It means everything to us. Have you read it? If you have not, you should do so without delay. The community in which you live shall benefit thereby. For the book has between its covers the qualities that make for soberness of thought and sincerity of purpose. Let me assure you that you will be amply repaid for reading this timely and useful treatise.

Four answers are given to the question: "Work, Play, Love, Worship." Can you in any way afford to turn a deaf ear to them? Can you live a life worthy of the name without them? Are they not the four pillars on which men have developed throughout all generations a character that the strain and fret of experience can not wear thin? Surely, surely this is the case. They are so undeniably so that they are at once convincing.

Work is a necessity, and so is play. Toiling and relaxation form a helpful contrast in every man's life. Love is the essence of all grandeur. In fact, it is the man himself. And when we are commanded to love one another, this commandment is so much in keeping with our needs that it is always fresh. It is never out of date and stale. Worship is that fine, wholesome atmosphere which we call, reverence. It is that moral value which is prized so highly by all when it is seen in others. These four are the things by which men live—that is, when they are performed at the proper time. Read the book. It will make you stronger, and unless the condition of your mind is exceedingly abnormal, you will be seen next Sunday in some church, at Wauseon, worshipping the Lord in the beauty of holiness.

MYERS-SMITH.

At the M. E. Parsonage at Wauseon, on Tuesday afternoon, Alva W. Smith of Fayette and Miss Clara Myers of Metamora were quietly united in matrimony. They take up their residence immediately in New York City where Mr. Smith has an excellent position with the Westinghouse Electric Company as one of their experts in the department of research.

Mr. Smith is one of the young men of whom Fayette and vicinity is justly proud. With many handicaps he struggled hard for an education and won a grand victory in spite of all hindrances. He graduated with honors in the Fayette Normal and then for several terms was a very successful teacher. He went to the Ohio State University and worked his way through that institution and stood high in his class at the time of graduation. But he was determined to get a still better equipment and took a position as assistant teacher in the university and at the same time pursued his studies until he recently received his Master's Degree.

His example should be a great encouragement and inspiration to every young man and woman who is earnestly seeking the pathway to the best. In his intellectual pursuits he has an excellent position with the Westinghouse Electric Company as one of their experts in the department of research.

ANOTHER CLASSIFICATION SCHEME

A concerted movement on the part of four state commercial organizations to bring about an amendment to the constitution of Ohio providing for the classification of property for taxation and the exemption of mortgages from taxation other than a registration or recording the latest tax is.

Chief among these organizations is the Ohio State Board of Commerce and the Ohio Tax League, another the Ohio Manufacturers Association and the other the Ohio Association of Real Estate Exchange. These organizations have a numerous membership in all parts of the state. Initiative petitions will soon be out and the promoters hope to have the amendment voted on at the November election. Those who advocate equality see no need of classification. Three classes are proposed. It is left to the legislature to fix the tax rate on the various classes of property. Stop, look and listen, should appear before every voter before he signs a petition for this tax shifting scheme.

There no doubt are defects in our taxing system and they should be corrected but those who seek to classify property certainly have a lower tax rate, no exemption, and they meant it. But that did not satisfy the bond holders and the tax dodgers. Last November the people again said no tax exemption, and now comes the proposition to classify in order that some citizen of Ohio may enjoy the protection of the state and enjoy special favors in the way of a lower tax rate than his less prosperous neighbors. Shame on the man who seeks special legislation to avoid paying the rightful share toward the support of the state.

The mortgage giver should not pay tax on the mortgage and a law can and should be made to that effect. But this scheme purpose to exempt the mortgage other than a filing fee. This would exempt millions of dollars from the tax duplicate and afford a tax free investment for those most able to pay tax.

The large cities control the legislature and if they are left to fix the rates on the various classes it will be done to their interest. It will be well to investigate carefully before signing this petition. It looks as if exemption or near exemption is about all there is of it. Remember if the mortgages are exempted from taxation that you Mr. Taxpayer will have to pay the tax that the mortgage holder should pay. Do you want to pay it or do you want every one to pay his share? Think it over.

STUDENT TALK.

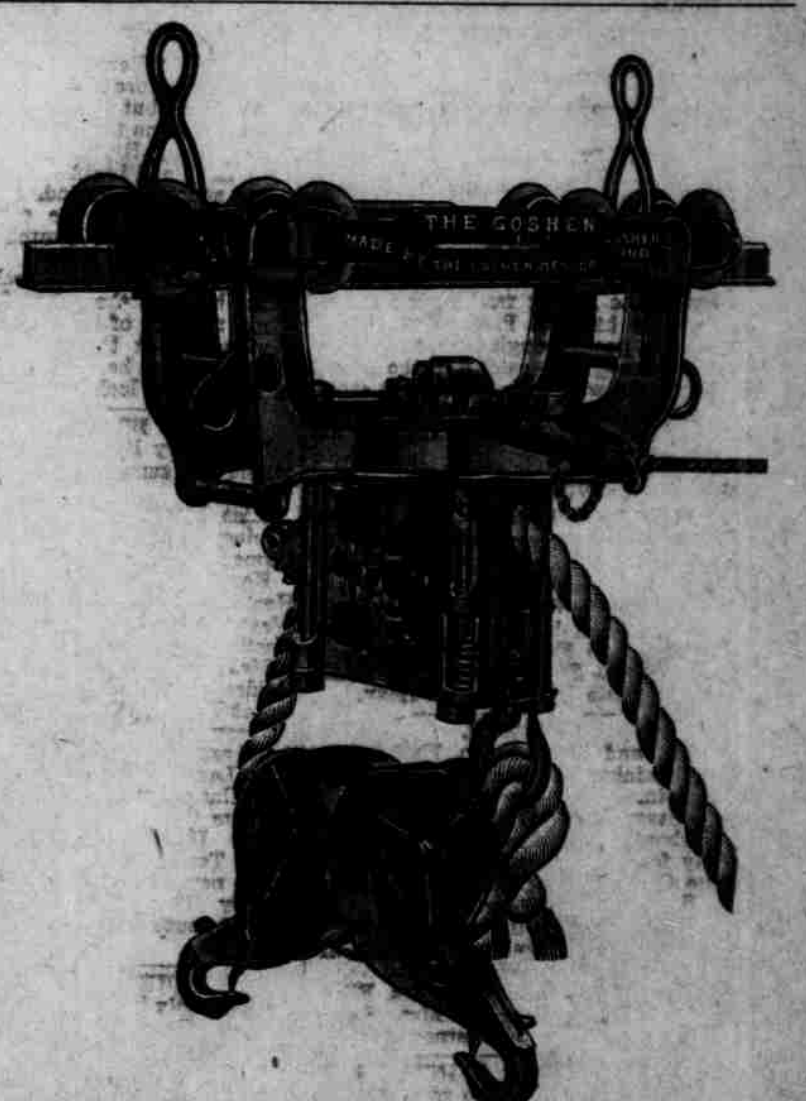

Walter Howard and Carl Dolf of the Spencerian Business College are home on a short vacation. David Hagerman has completed his course in medicine at the University of Michigan and is now a full fledged M. D. David has been a hard worker during his student days and has earned his degree by fair and earnest work. We wish for him the success in his chosen profession which he merits.

Merritt Haag and Oliver Leining-er spent a few days the latter part of last week and the first of the present week with home folks and then hastened back to Ann Arbor to attend a Summer term at the University of Michigan. Merritt Haag is taking a Medical course while Oliver Leining-er is working for the degree of Doctor of Dental Surgery.

Miss Helen Hartman graduated from the Teachers course in vocal music at the U. of M. this spring; this is the second course Miss Hartman has completed at Ann Arbor, she having completed the course in Public School Music and Drawing last Spring.

The Eager Brothers, Frank Collins and Jay with his brand new A. B. degree and Donald Dudley are back from the O. S. U. far the summer and they look as though they found plenty to do in that institution.
